

The Minister for Justice

1.	Ian Haslam	Dublin, Ireland	This has been a long struggle, sadly, for the family. Hopefully this will be resolved with a positive outcome in the future.
2.	Joan Deane	Swords, Ireland	I sincerely hope that justice will finally be done and that the family of Fr Niall Molloy can begin to feel some peace again
3.	Jack Clarke	Dublin, Ireland
4.	Michael Kearney	Long Island City, NY	Justice must be done.
5.	Barbara clinton	killala, Ireland	When a family havenot obtained justice it makes the grieving process all that much harder to begin , i hope justice will be seen to be done
6.	Severino Spadavecchia	Stuttgart, Germany
7.	Linda Perrin	Johannesburg, South Africa
8.	John J Berns	DUBLIN, Ireland	THIS CASE HAS BEEN IGNORED FOR SO LONG THAT IT NEEDS URGENT ATTENTION NOW
9.	Martin McCann	Co. Wexford, Ireland
10.	D. Jackson	Grimesland, NC	I have researched reviewed studied and seen reports concerning Father Niall Molloy's death. It is obvious too many unanswered question regarding the death of Father Molloy. Myself and others demand a full independent inquiry. Signed D. Jackson, Amnesty International USA
11.	Colin O'Neill	Richmond, London, United Kingdom	I hope this matter is resolved and a positive outcome brings closure for the family of Fr. Niall Molloy.

132.	Pat Clark	Jedburgh, United Kingdom	I knew Niall personally many years ago - he deserves justice!
133.	Liz molloy	Co Roscommon, Ireland	At the time of Fr Nialls passing I spent so much time with my dad Billy Molloy,(2 years scouting and finding the extra info) to know and understand that Fr Nialls Death was no accident,
134.	Fergus Scarlett	Dublin, Ireland	Justice must be seen to be done
135.	Bill Maher	Dublin, Ireland	A book recently published (Sept 2007) by Frances Cahill states:- " my father recalled that the priest's head had been bashed in with the statue of a horse, information that allegedly came from the DPP's file on the case" It's time for the Institutions of the Irish State to finally investigate and publish the TRUTH
136.	Robert M. Andrews	Fort Lauderdale, FL	A 'blood stained body' doesn't seem like a heart attack to me. This needs further investigation.
137.	michael hoepfl	muenchen, Germany	As a fellow EU person who loves to visit your country I am concerned at the injustice that occurs in Ireland. This appears to be another case of a serious injustice. I hope for all concerned that justice will surface soon. MH

147.	Simos Tarabatzis	Kavala, Greece
148.	Rebecca Allen	Co Leitrim, Ireland	Fr Nial, as we affectionately called him, was my Grandmothers brother. She died herself without any answers surrounding Nials death, as did my own mother. Perhaps now they have answers, but I'd like to have answers in my lifetime. He was a gentle soul and deserves the truth to be known.

149.	Eloise O'Hare	Norwich., United Kingdom	Father Nial, was a friend, I use to stay at his house with his niece as a child he was a very nice man, with a heart of gold and had a large congregation at his church who also new he was a nice man. He was in good health. When I found out of his death and the evidence of how he was found, it was definitely murder. The murderer is still out there and capable of doing it again. There must be people out there that know the truth. If they could come forward, friends and family deserve to know the truth and let father Nial rest in peace.

170.	Gerard Lawler	Co. Dublin, Ireland	I know members of Fr. Molloy's family and fully support them in finding out the truth.

171.	Pat O'Connell	Dublin, Ireland	too many authourity figures took the law into their own hands on the basis of "knowing whats best". Judges, Garda, Priests thought the "little people" needed guidance and not justice. Well wake up, because the hounds have found the fox, prosperity has brought education and awareness and we will pursue our justice to the grave and beyond
172.	Pamela Flynn	baldoyle, Ireland	The truth will out. I fully support Fr Molloy's family. Don't give up.
173.	Teresa Hillman	Callington, United Kingdom	The truth must be sought. Justice must be done.
174.	Charles Shuster	Willow Street, PA	Please reopen the investigation. It's the right thing to do!
175.	Joanne Sharkey	Castlerea, Ireland	Best of luck , this needs to be sorted
176.	Katherine O Connor	Co Tipperary, Ireland
177.	antony jones	scunthorpe, United Kingdom	this case clearly needs to be investigated a second time.
178.	Graeme Williams	Dublin 18, Ireland	Such an obvious miscarriage of justice must be investigated
179.	Margy Hutchinson	Newcastle upon Tyne, United Kingdom
181.	Pauline Price	Geashill, Ireland	This is yet another example of the corruption which has been so widespread in this country over the years. It is a disgrace to the memory of Niall Molloy and typical of how things used to be. As a matter of principal and urgency this case needs to be re-examined so that the family can rest in peace.

255.	Judith Dunne	Huntington Station, NY	Niall was my former husband's uncle and I met him on a trip to Ireland about 1984. When I heard about the tragedy I couldn't understand why no one pursued the truth of what happened and I am happy to find that the family is still trying to get justice for Fr. Niall.
256.	Helen Donohoe	Kildare, Ireland	This case is just another example of how accurate Bob Geldof was when he sang about this country being a Banana Republic, I have no difficulty supporting the efforts of Bill in getting a public inquiry and would encourage others to do the same, one never knows when such tragedy and injustice might visit.

282.	Kevin Conlon	Sligo, Ireland	I served Mass for Fr Molloy when i was young boy and remember him with great affection. I was living in London when I heard about his tragic death. His family deserves proper justice and not the type meted out by a corrupt system that prevails in Ireland at the moment. If the ordinary decent people of this country do not come out from behind their masks and call a spade a spade for once in their sheltered lives then they don't deserve to be called Christians . The silence is deafening !!
283.	Chris McCabe	Sandy, United Kingdom
284.	James Dunne	Sea Cliff, NY	My Uncle Niall was one of the finest man I have ever know. His murder was a loss to us all. As an attorney and former Judge, I know that the Irish Criminal Justice System should be ashamed. Justice was not done and the cover up continues to this day. Ireland, a Catholic country, hangs its head in shame. I pray for you.

317.	Catherine E Walshe	Cork, Ireland	I remember being appalled at the outcome of the Fr. Niall Molloy court case. The whole case, as reported, stank. I'm a greatgrandmother of 4 now and, at 82, wish Bill Maher every success with this petition. Catherine E Walshe

327.	Monica Flanagan	Crossmolina, Ireland	(continued from previous page) was bruised and swollen. The only visible parts of him I recognised were his hands which were beautiful. He certainly didn't look to me like a man who had died of heart disease. I also knew the Flynns. I never felt justice was done in this case and so I back your petition fully.
328.	albert kelly	oyster bay, NY	I went to school with the late Ian Maher in Tullow Co. Carlow. I met him again in the 90's in the Burlington Hotel, Dublin. Even after all the years I immediately recognised him. He was very troubled over this injustice, we talked about it, he showed me his uncle's watch. I was sorry to read in the Irish Independent that he passed away in 2001. This injustice probably contributed to his early death. I hope your efforts in this matter are successful, Albert Kelly.

365.	Mary (Mai) Fitzmaurice McCormack	Bedfordshire, United Kingdom	I was born and raised in Fuerty, a radical teenager when Fr Molloy came to Fuerty/Castlecoote. He made it his business to talk with me and helped me return to going to Mass. When I married some years later at the ripe old age of 22, he was a massive support to me as I was leaving to live in the UK and feeling very vulnerable at the time. I found Fr Molloy to be in the first place a gentleman, and secondly a very good pastor with all the qualties of a good priest. He could and did make a difference (in his own quite way).

416.	Maura Boyle	Leixlip,, Ireland	Too many disturbing questions remain unanswered regarding the death of Fr. Niall Molloy. Each one of us depends on the police and legal system to protect us and our lives. To have confidence in these systems, Fr. Molloy's death must be fully and publicly inquired into as outlined by his nephew, Bill Maher. It matters to everybody that the disturbing issues regarding Fr. Molloy's death be addressed comprehensively.

420.	kathleen cuddy	westport, Ireland	I knew Fr. Molloy and he was a fabulouus man. Since Fr.Niall death the public have felt free to speculate about his death and the focus from my experience has being on slandering Fr. Niall Molloy's name rather than on seeking the truth and bringing the perpetrator to justice. We are all aware by now that we live in a very corrupt society covering up evidence etc been part of the course and look where it has got us. It is time that as a nation we move away from this terrible legacy and in doing this, strive for the truth and the goodness in our nation. I believe that it would be a great start for our nation and more important the memory of Fr.Molloy and his family to open up the fr. Niall Molloy case and let the truth be heard, let justice be done and most importantly let this lovely man,s soul rest in peace.

Was there a legally qualified person present at the wedding who could advise? The 'memory loss'? Check the Guest list.

435.	Noel O'Gara	Athlone, Ireland	Judge Roe showed himself to have perverted the law. 1985 was that year when moving statues were reported all over Ireland. Unbelievable things were happening. I had written a book about the Yorkshire Ripper naming a man as the real Ripper. That man lived only 300 yards from the Flynn house in Clara. I phoned the local sergeant Kevin Forde to discuss it only weeks before the murder of the priest and he was so afraid of that Clara criminal that I named in my book as the real Ripper that he said to me. 'come up in the dark' to see him. The police botched that also.

1,067. TERESA DONEGAN	Ballynahown, Ireland	I attended that meeting in Castlecoote and came away with very mixed feelings - the main one being that the journalist involved seems to be on a personal crusade. Nevertheless, I agree with the sentiments in that, I would very much wish to have the person or persons involved in this most terrible of crimes be brought to justice. My mother - Fr Niall's 1st cousin (Mary Egan - of Liscam House, Curraghboy) always spoke so highly of Fr Niall and held him in such high esteem and was positively devastated by his death. She would have been of a nervous disposition, but this almost drove her over the edge. This entire case "Stinks" to high heaven. We must and need to see justice done. Yours sincerely Teresa Donegan

		If the allegation made in Dail Eireann that Judge Frank Roe was a personal friend or acquaintance of the defendant is true, then he should not have heard the case.
